

New Parents Safety Orientation

The arrival of a new child to your family is stressful and worrisome. The challenges become many as they gain more mobility and their curiosity builds. TRAEX Tactical Solutions LLC provides expecting and new parents with some insight of what is to come, and techniques, tools and practices that will help you prepare your house and auto for the new addition to your family.

The course is provided by experienced public safety officials, who are also parents. We have been there and can provide you with some tips to keep your children safe while giving you some peace of mind.
